

Submitted to the Canadian Transportation Agency (Form submission)

Subject: Consultation on proposed changes to strengthen the Air Passenger Protection Regulations

Name: Jesmaine Bowling

Date: 2023-08-05

Airlines should make provision for children to be seated with parents before boarding the flight

Passenger travelling alone should not be targeted to give up their seat to accommodate parents and kids

If there's a need to find appropriate seating for kids and parents together the attendant should make a general announcement asking for volunteers willing to give up their seat

Passengers should not be threatened/bullied with removal if they don't want to give up their seats

Information should be provided in travel literature regarding passengers' rights on board aircraft

If airline passengers are forced to give up their seat to accommodate kids and parents they should be upgraded to a comparable comfortable seat or compensated for the disruption of having to change seats