

Submitted by email to the Canadian Transportation Agency

Subject: Consultation paper: Phase II of the Accessible Transportation for Persons with Disabilities Regulations

The concerns raised in this consultation paper are symptomatic of the absence of and growing need for Canadian multi-stakeholder consensus-based industry standards. Without standards, chaos is inevitable.

Canadian industry standards and a voluntary third-party conformity assessment scheme could establish the fundamental building blocks and an essential framework to ensure consumer satisfaction and the welfare of service dogs, while enhancing the credibility of the service dog industry, public safety, and confidence within the transportation sector.

To learn more please check out the Unleashing Potential Initiative.

servicedogs@cf4aass.org

<http://www.cf4aass.org/>

Follow Us on Twitter & Facebook